Dear Wine Lover,

Welcome to our holiday offerings. This is my favorite time of year and hopefully you will see why within the contents of this catalog. The festive spirit, the wine making families that bring us great wines, as well as a sense of place are showcased in each of these pages.

This catalog represents my fond memories of walks in the vineyards and my wine education through the friendships of Robert and Margrit Mondavi to include my introduction to visiting wine makers of the world that have visited our home of Napa. I am clearly humbled this holiday season, in my lessons from each of them; that the sense of place and family are instrumental to the production of great wines and great memories to be cherished forever.

Through my friendship of the Mondavi's and other Napa Valley legends; I have traveled and explored and been introduced to wine families from regions, I once thought were remote places. Who would have thought (this Southern boy) would travel and taste in areas such as South Africa, New Zealand and even Eastern Europe. In every case the sense of family, place and commitment to quality have always been the overriding theme that is truly humane and humbling.

Our staff of Kristina, Dave, Brian, Lori, Lynn, Amber, Martin and others pour their heart into ensuring we share with you, just a small bit, of our sense of place that we feel is special being Napa Valley and beyond. In the pages that follow, are wines from Napa, Sonoma the budding region of California's Amador County and beyond to international selections that exude similar values to our own. This holiday season our hope to you is you will consider Winetasting.com as your wine store of choice for gifts and self consumption.

More so however, we hope you will receive and cherish the gifts that matter most this holiday: health, happiness, and the company of those you love!

Cheers!

Chris and the team of Winetasting.com

To Start & Finish the Night Duo

The holidays are a time when only the very best will do...and this dynamic duo delivers. Start the evening with a memorable toast with California's best; the creamy, elegant 2001 J Schram. Finish the evening on a high note with the rich, nutty Ratafia dessert wine from J Vineyards. We wouldn't be surprised if these two wines become part of your holiday tradition for years to come
